Submission Guidelines: Embarking on the Literary Journey

If you believe your short story possesses the brilliance to captivate the literary world, then we invite you to submit your work for consideration for the Caine Prize 2024. The submission window opens on March 1, 2023, and closes on April 30, 2023.

To ensure your submission meets the eligibility criteria, it must adhere to the following guidelines:

- Short Story Format: Submit an original, unpublished short story written in English that does not exceed 10,000 words.
- African Authorship: The author must be a citizen of an African country or a writer of African descent who lives and works on the continent.
- First-Time Publication: The short story should not have been previously published or self-published in any form, including online platforms.
- Multiple Submissions: Each author can submit only one story for consideration.

Eligibility Criteria: Defining African Literary Excellence

The Caine Prize seeks to recognize short stories that embody the highest standards of literary excellence while reflecting the vibrant diversity of African cultures and experiences. To be eligible for the prize, your story should:

- Exceptional Storytelling: Captivate readers with a compelling narrative, well-developed characters, and a strong narrative arc.
- Distinct African Voice: Reflect the richness and diversity of African perspectives, cultures, and traditions.

- Literary Innovation: Demonstrate originality in style, form, or subject matter, pushing the boundaries of literary expression.
- Social Impact: Engage with contemporary issues, explore social realities, and challenge societal norms from an African perspective.

Transformative Impact: Empowering African Storytellers

The Caine Prize is not merely a literary award; it serves as a transformative force in the African literary landscape. By recognizing and celebrating exceptional literary talent, the prize provides:

- Global Recognition: A prestigious platform for African writers to share their stories with a worldwide audience.
- Financial Support: A significant monetary prize to support the writer's literary pursuits and professional development.
- Mentorship and Networking: Opportunities to connect with established writers, publishers, and industry professionals.
- Literary Development: Access to workshops, residencies, and other programs to enhance their writing skills and expand their literary horizons.

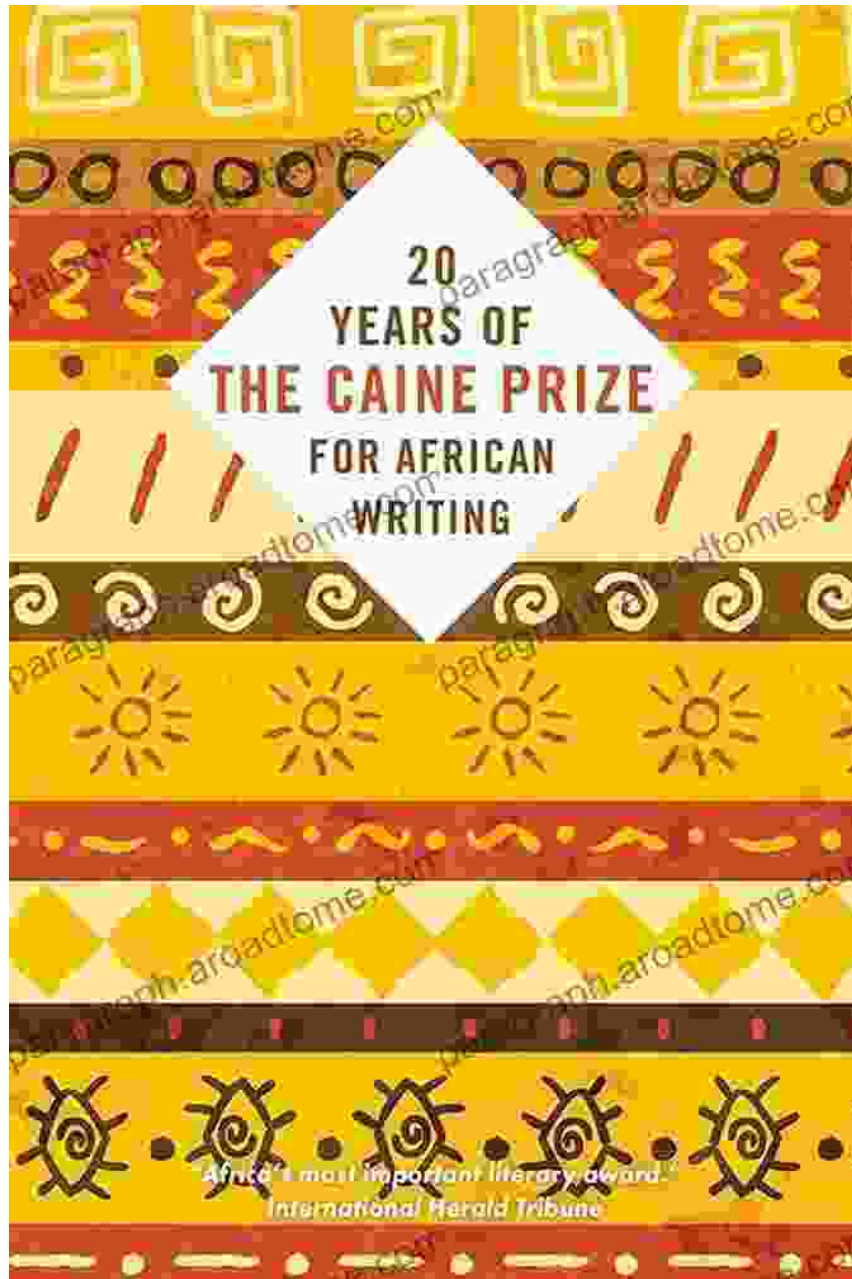

The Caine Prize has a proven track record of transforming the careers of African writers, propelling them to international acclaim and inspiring a new generation of literary stars. Previous winners include renowned authors such as Chinua Achebe, Adichie Chimamanda Ngozi, Yvonne Adhiambo Owuor, and Bernadine Evaristo.
